

"Dearly beloved, we are gathered here today to join this man, Jon Doe and this woman, Jane Doe, in matrimony."

Exchange of Vows

Notary asks the man, "Jon Doe, do you take this woman to be your wife, to live together in matrimony, to love, honor, comfort her and keep her in sickness and in health, and forsaking all others, for as long as you both shall live?"

Man answers, "I do."

Notary asks the woman, "Jane Doe, do you take this man to be your husband, to live together in matrimony, to love, honor, comfort him and keep him in sickness and in health, and forsaking all others, for as long as you both shall live?"

Woman answers, "I do."

Notary states, "Repeat after me:"

To the man: "I, Jon Doe, take you Jane Doe, to be my wife, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death do us part."

To the woman: "I, Jane Doe, take you Jon Doe, to be my husband, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death do us part."

Exchange of Rings

Notary asks the man to place the ring on the woman's finger and to repeat the following,

"I give you this ring as a token and pledge of our constant faith and abiding love."

(Repeat the same for the woman).

Pronouncement

Notary asks the couple to join hands and then declares,

“We have come together in this place and have heard the willingness of Jon and Jane to be joined in marriage. They have come of their own free will and in our hearing have made a covenant of faithfulness. They have given and received rings as the seal of their promises.”

"By virtue of the authority vested in me under the laws of the State of Florida, I now pronounce you husband and wife. The bride and groom may now kiss."
